

Day 6

The demand for smaller states reflects both democratic aspiration and administrative desperation. " Critically examine this statement in light of India's federal structure, regional inequalities and cultural diversity.

India is a diverse country in terms of language, religion, culture etc. The identity crisis, lack of social participation, Regional Chauvinism etc are some factors due to which the demand for smaller states are growing day by day. i.e. the democratic aspiration and administrative desperation are major factors responsible for demand of smaller states. Some reasons for demand are listed as follows:

As we know that the demand for states in India has evolved from language and cultural diversity but now there are regions demanding statehood due to various other reasons also like resources, lack of development in their region, control over their ethnicity ~~etc~~ i.e. Native's Sentiment etc.

Lack of Identity or Identity crisis :

The citizens feels that they are being neglected by their government due to lack of social participation and their concerns not being addressed.

Lack of resources and Economic development:

The growing competition to access the local resources and inability of the government to create job opportunities has increased the grievance of the citizens.

Administrative Inefficiency

The control of administration over geographical areas and their decision making over the area without consultation or inclusion of the natives has created a sense of insecurity among the citizens.

Political Chauvinism i.e. partiality among different sections of people living in same area how best sections deprived in comparison to other.

Why there is need for creating small states:

1. Decentralized governance and administrative efficiency

The people who were earlier deprived ~~the~~ will now have sense of ownership & belongingness. There will be sense of happiness and contentment among the citizens.

Managing small states is easy for administration and it will lead to improved service and development in the area.

2. Economic optimization and Political Inclusivity

Resources can be well managed and local workforce can be trained accordingly.

When people will be politically included then they will feel more connected to government. For ex. Inclusion in decision making will encourage them and promote Accountability and Democracy.

3 Cultural Commodification and Preservation of Ethnicity

Formation of small states on basis of culture / ethnicity will give the citizens the right and respect and social participation will increase in such case as a result social capital increase in the society leading to strong identity and feel of nationhood.

Problems Associated with creation of small states

1. Bulky administration and Increased Administrative cost

New states formation will lead to formation of new government as a result of which Administration will become more bulky and the proliferation will lead to increased cost of governance.

2. Balkanization of states can lead to decrease in national unity and nationhood.

3. Inter state disputes for resources will arise as we can see in case of River Kaviri

7. Creation of states will lead to Domino effect as India is a diverse country and there is change in every 100 km so more demand can arise.

Steps to counter the issue :

1. Reason for disagreement must be known first then it should be solved by inclusion of natives and elders in decision making.
2. Proper mechanisms must be there to include everyone and check and balance approach must be followed so that identity of every section is intact.
3. Resources must be distributed properly by help of local bodies promoting Nationalism.
4. Regional autonomous council must be given power over local matters and must be followed and discussed by the local administration.
5. Development work must be done in ground level and power must be distributed to ~~for~~ foster harmony and Integrity.

As discussed there are many factors due to which ~~the~~ still there is demand for some states i.e. reorganisation on different basis and it is ~~very~~ complex issue which has its own pros and cons. It is ~~very~~ important for us to manage the situation and take necessary action for states/regions which are demanding statehood are as follows

1. Bodoland from Assam
2. Gorkhaland from West Bengal
3. Vidharbha from Maharashtra
4. Saurashtra from Gujarat
5. Coorg from Karnataka
6. Bundelkhand from U.P.
7. Maru Pradesh from Rajasthan

It is important for us to ^{keep} the identity of citizens intact and promote social capital so that the unity of nation is maintained and each and every citizen and section of people live happily promoting "Unity is Diversity" and India becomes ~~a leading~~ a role model for the world
