

Q. There can be no social justice without economic prosperity, but economic prosperity without social justice is meaning-less?

→ Raghav asked his friend what if we have born in Yemen, ~~then~~^{would} ~~also~~ we ~~will~~ be able to get government scheme benefit. Economic prosperity comes with growth and growth give confidence for social justice. A strong economy generates jobs, infrastructure, investment etc which is crucial to support social justice.

Economic prosperity enable investment in human development growth which provide resource for social justice. Social justice without economic prosperity ~~is~~ is equally problematic. Without economic prosperity government and institution lacks the means to fund social program, and services that promote social justice.

Challenges in economic growth

1. Inequality and uneven distribution of wealth → Economic growth often concentrates wealth in the hand of few.

ex - The top 1% globally owned nearly half of the world wealth.

2. Exploitation → In race of becoming wealthy person loses morality, ~~ethical~~ ethics for profit maximization.

ex → Forcing people to work 70-80 hr a week with low salary and expecting higher output.

3. Environment degradation → Economic growth has cost which relies on resource exploitation and industrialization. Lead that lead environmental damage such as climate change.

ex → Globally increase in temperature and intense heatwaves. etc.

4. Job Displacement and Technological disruption → New technology and automation can displace low-skill workers, leading to unemployment and marginalization.

ex- Customer service representative, data entry operation is on risk of losing job.

Unemployment

Theft, poverty, Dependence

5. Chrony Capitalism →

5. Globalization and External Vulnerabilities → Integration into the global economy exposes countries to external shocks, such as increases in trade, supply chain disruption.

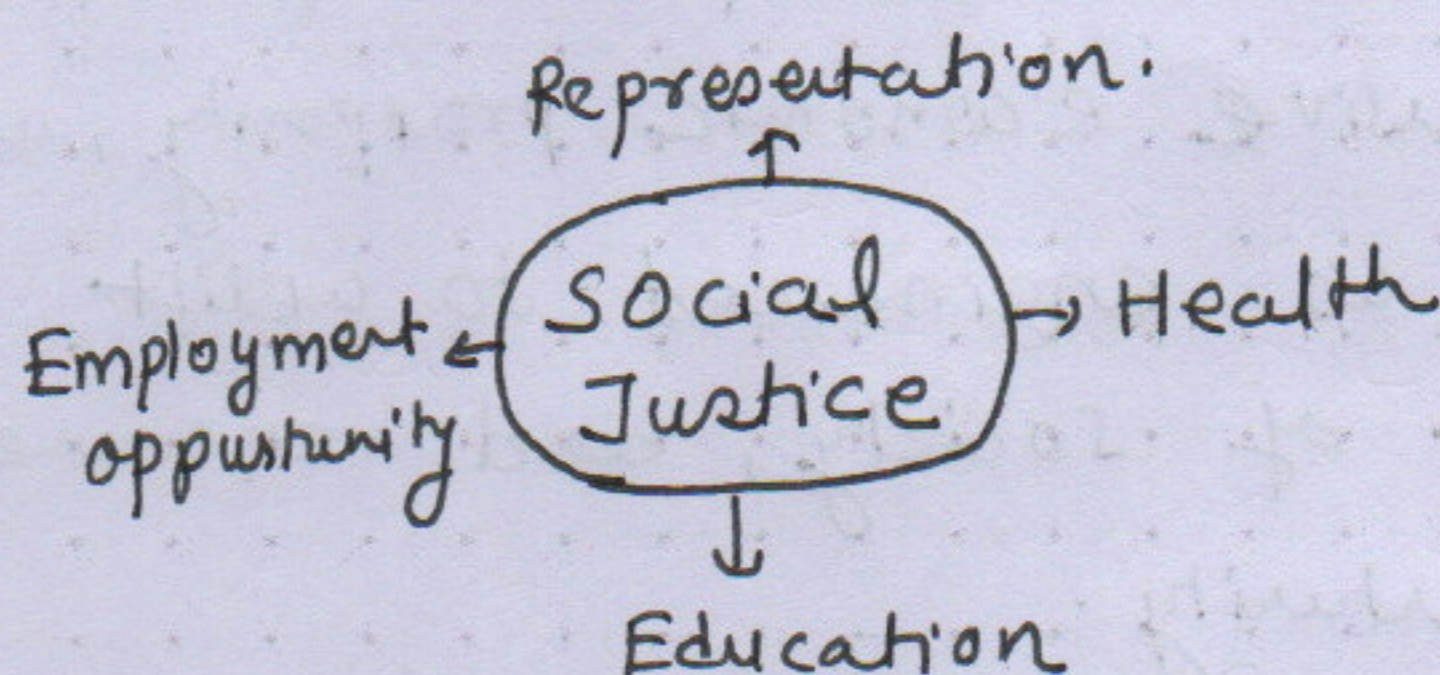

ex → US increase trade lead to exporter in disruption.

In India economic liberalization in 1990s spurred GDP growth, lifting million out of poverty. Programs like MGNREGA, which guarantee 100 days of employment to household, Right to food and Right to education etc which came ~~later~~ after economic liberalization. Such program has cost and which can bear by prosperous country.

"The character of our nation isn't reflected in how we treat rich & the privileged but how we treat the poor and disfavoured" 22.

The debate is # that, person with high income ~~get~~ pay tax like England and get services like Somalia. But what if he got opportunity to get rebirth, then can he will choose to born in poor or disfavoured family. The mere chance ~~if~~ ^{he} born in ~~pro~~ prosperous family which ^{available} ~~able~~ ^{give} opportunity for growth.

individual development should have to ~~think~~ think other way round, that is what if he or she born in poor or disfavored family.

Health, according to National ^{Health} family survey (NHFS)-5 the ^{57%} women between (12-35) are anemic. Various schemes like POSHAN which aim to improve the nutritional status of school age girl. ~~But~~ In name of social justice scheme has launched by but health is still poor as famously said Justice is need to be seen not done.

Education, recently in Bihar caste survey ~~community person~~ ^{person} belong to ^{2 to 3%} EBC, SC community ~~can~~ children able to pass 12th exam. The opportunity provided government and various scheme has been launched for education but still there is low pass out rate.

Therefore sustainable social justice is built upon a foundation of inclusive economic prosperity, where growth is engineered to uplift all segment of society, and ensure access to opportunity.

Similarly genuine economic prosperity can only be realized and sustained in a society which justice prevail. So far ultimate goal must be to build a society where ~~econom~~ economic well-being serves as powerful engine for social justice and where social justice ensure that prosperity is a shared experience, truly meaningful for all.
